

Edible York is keen to encourage people to grow food with neighbours in communal spaces, as well as in their own gardens, back yards or window boxes.

Would you like to start a veg bed or plant low maintenance fruit trees or fruit bushes in your street? If so, we can give new community beds seedlings in May and even fruit trees in the winter – funding permitting!

Edible York also organises:

- An Abundance programme – to harvest fruit that would otherwise go to waste. Schools, Community Cafes, Food Banks, and other organisations that can put fruit to good use, receive crates of delicious fruit each year
- Regular 'Get-together events' to share ideas, seeds and plants for those interested in all aspects of growing food
- Promotes the growing and cooking of locally sourced food particularly in the lower income areas of the City
